RE: Ex Parte Communication, May 5, 2015

DATE : May 6, 2015

My firm represents an undisclosed client which manufactures high-end commercial and industrial electronic test and measurement devices. On Tuesday May 5, 2015, at 1 p.m. Eastern time, we conducted a telephonic conference call with certain DOE staff to discuss the potential applicability of DOE's final rule on External Power Supplies to some of the products manufactured by my client. We spoke generally about the rule and the draft guidance that DOE has offered to date in connection with the applicability of the rule to various electronic devices. DOE staff requested that we submit this notice of ex parte communication in light of the fact that DOE's guidance on this topic is not yet final. The following individuals were on the conference call:

Ashley Armstrong (DOE)
John Cymbalsky (DOE)
Steve Gevey (DOE)
Laura Arhight (DOE)
Paul (senior engineer, undisclosed client)
Doug (senior attorney, undisclosed client)

Richard Lehfelddt (Crowell & Moring, outside counsel to undisclosed client)

Please do not hesitate to call me if you have any questions.

Best regards,

Richard Lehfelddt
