EWAB Charter, 2026-2031

The EWAB Charter was renewed on September 30, 2026, and it directs the Board to:

- Convene industry stakeholders, including but not limited to energy employers, labor organizations, educational institutions and training providers, state and local workforce and economic development entities, and community organizations, to develop a comprehensive understanding of the labor market
- Research different models of energy education and workforce development across the nation, Department and National Laboratories, and other federal agencies to inform strategies for the Department and avoid duplication
- Identify emerging issues and challenges to inform DOE so that the Department's workforce efforts can be adaptive to industry movement
- Continue to recommend strategies for supporting and developing a skilled energy workforce that align with the Department's workforce priorities and the objectives outlined in 42 U.S.C. § 18744(a).
