Celebrate the 20th Anniversary of the Fernald Preserve Site Remediation!

Saturday, Sept. 19, 2-4 p.m.

Join us for an open house at the Fernald Preserve and discover the incredible transformation of this restored former uranium processing site. You will have the opportunity to explore our history, science, and ongoing ecological restoration through a series of interactive stations.

Converted Advanced Wastewater:

Tour our facility, and learn about innovative methods used to treat and clean water.

Water Treatment Demonstration:

Visit a monitoring well to learn about the methods we use to monitor our groundwater.

Ecological Restoration and Seed Giveaway: Discover how we brought the local ecosystem back to life.

Interpretive Exhibit Tour: Walk through our exhibits to hear the powerful story of how Fernald transitioned from an industrial facility into the thriving preserve it is today.

Connect with Wildlife: Join our staff at the Weapons to Wetlands overlook to learn about Fernald's wildlife.
