Subject: Comment on DOE/EIS 0391

March 17, 2010

As a resident of the Pacific Northwest, I oppose the preferred alternative to ship nuclear waste from other Department of Energy sites to Hanford, as outlined in the Draft Tank Closure and Waste Management Environmental Impact Statement for the Hanford Site, Richland, Washington (DOE/EIS--0391).

I vehemently oppose the plan to add more radioactive waste to the Hanford site. Shipping this waste along Northwest freeways is a danger to residents like me. And that doesn't even take into account groundwater contamination of the nearby Columbia River.

Additionally, all current Hanford waste must be treated through vitrification, not covered up.

The radioactive genie is out of the bottle, with potential for great and lasting harm. It is a deadly mistake to pretend like this is ordinary business as usual. For the sake of my great grandchildren, deal with these atomic mistakes right where they sit. Don't bring them to us here in Oregon. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Gary Gripp

Regarding the commentor's concern about the transport of LLW and MLLW from other DOE sites to Hanford for disposal, DOE will be deferring the decision on sending LLW or MLLW from other DOE sites to Hanford for disposal (with some limited specific exceptions), at least until the WTP is operational, subject to appropriate NEPA review. For a more comprehensive discussion on the transport and disposal of offsite waste, see Section 2.1 of this CRD.
