On March 7, 2019, the Association of Pool & Spa Professionals (APSP) and the National Electrical Manufacturers Association (NEMA), along with some of their industry members, met with the Department of Energy (Department). This meeting simply served as an opportunity to review all previous documents and presentations given to DOE staff with Assistant Secretary Daniel Simmons, in order to update him on the replacement pool pump motor loophole and possible steps forward the Department might consider taking. No new documentation was provided than what has already been sent in past ex parte communications on this issue.
