- Chartered in 1994 under FACA to involve local citizens more directly in DOE EM cleanup decisions
- Made up of community representative members, not experts
- Focuses on transparency and builds trust

- Number of recommendations – 1,762 (as of FY 2022)
- Percentage fully or partially implemented – 85% (as of FY 2022)

EM SSAB Membership

- Local boards range in size from 10-40 members
- Members are recruited from communities near EM sites
- Members are appointed for a two-year term and can seek reappointment for a total of six years
- Membership should mirror the community in terms of demographics and be fairly-balanced in interests
- Members are volunteers and not compensated

Work Plans

---

- Developed each year by the local site office in conjunction with board members
- Ensures members are focusing their efforts on meaningful activities
- Establishes the frequency of meetings (varies from monthly to quarterly)

- Maintain required committee records (e.g., costs, minutes, membership)
- Prepare Federal Register notices

DOE Responsibilities under FACA (continued)

- Prepare annual report to the CMO summarizing Board activities
- Nominate members for appointment
- Ensure all ethical standards are met by Board members
- Ensure that meetings are held at a reasonable time and place, accessible to the public

Member Responsibilities

- Attend regular meetings and learn about the site's EM cleanup mission
- Provide recommendations at the request of EM management
- Work collaboratively and respectfully with other Board members
- Avoid techniques such as “bargaining” and acquiescence simply to avoid conflict and reach agreement
- Avoid responding directly to public comments

Member Responsibilities

- Don't use your title or represent the board outside of a meeting
- Report if an outside entity is attempting to influence your decisions
- Focus on the Board's mission – collaboratively establishing a work plan
- Notify the DDFO of any potential or perceived conflict of interest

Conflicts of Interest

- EM SSAB members are not subject to the same federal ethics regulations as federal employees and Special Government Employees (SGEs).
- As a matter of policy, however, DOE asks that you:
  - Refrain from any use of your membership, which is, or gives the appearance of being, motivated by the desire for private, professional, or financial gain;
  - Recuse yourself from decisions and discussions related to real or perceived conflicts of interest, act impartially, and avoid the appearance of impropriety; and
  - Seek immediate guidance, beginning with the DDFO, if you are offered anything of value such as a gift, gratuity, loan, or favor in connection with advisory board service.
