General Comment

This project has a significant environmental impact on various ecosystems and their flora and fauna. A large number of hectares of the Sierra Madre de Chihuahua mountain range, a natural refuge for several species, will be deforested, also contaminating its aquifers. Furthermore, once the Sea of Cortez is reached, the route of the cargo ships will coincide with the presence of humpback whales, which use this area to give birth and as a safe haven for their young. The project puts this whale sanctuary and their lives at risk. Alternatives that do not impact the region's natural wealth should be sought, or alternatively, the project should be canceled. Finally, in the areas affected by the project, there is strong community discontent, which could lead to significant social conflicts related to the project's construction, potentially detrimental to all involved parties. We trust in your social and environmental responsibility to address these issues and suspend the project.
