General Comment

Hello.

This project is a really bad decision in the environmental point of view. El golfo de California is called the worlds acuarium for a reason. There lots of sea wildlife live and reproduce, and all this ships means the end ton that ecosystem.

Not to mention all the wildlife in Chihuahua and Sonora states. All those gas tubes means the destruction of the place.

Please, think about the future of all this lives, and also think about the future children will have if this proyect come true.

Lives are more important than money. And that includes life quality.
