General Comment

I have a complaint about the Saguaro project. I sincerely request that it be halted for the sake of the environment. I fully understand that they are looking to produce and sell gas, but I will make the following observations:

The place where they propose to take the boats is in the state of Sonora and in the Gulf of California, the famous Sea of Cortez, in Mexico, which is considered a WORLD HERITAGE SITE. It is the world's aquarium, home to many marine species and on which millions of people depend largely for food. Now, the energy demand for gas in Asia, and especially China, is zero or almost zero, so there's no reason to undertake a project like this. However, if what you are looking for is to create energy with gas, we can synchronize to look for a better alternative. I am in favor of sustainable development, human beings and nature must develop together.
