General Comment

Saguaro project is a menace to all marine biodiversity of the entire gulf, specially the whales. No amount of gas worths this level of damage to one of the most beautiful and delicate ecosystems in the world. It is obvious that corporations will be willing to sacrifice anything to get their pockets filled, but this kind of decisions impact not only that region but all of us. We need to assess on the long term repercussions and risks these decisions have, and try to get energy by other less impactful means. There are many other options!
