General Comment

The Saguaro Energía project represents a profound and consequential crossroad for the planet, posing an existential threat to one of the most biodiverse regions on Earth. Its transformational environmental impacts are irreconcilable with principles of sustainability and integrity that companies like Quantum Capital Group claim to uphold. We urge all relevant parties, especially the Department of Energy in its review of the application to extend the deadline for commencement of export operations, to consider reject the industrialization of the Gulf of California for LNG development.
