General Comment

As a conscious person, I refuse to accept that they want to carry out a megaproject that threatens biodiversity and ecological balance. They may think this doesn't affect them or doesn't matter to them, but if they took the time to understand the importance of this, they would realize they are making a grave mistake. When there is nothing left alive or healthy, no amount of money will be enough to live peacefully. Don't close your senses out of greed; look for alternatives that don't threaten life; later it will be too late.
