Site-Specific Advisory Board Membership

The Department of Energy's Environmental Management Site-Specific Advisory Board (EM SSAB) involves stakeholders more directly in EM cleanup decisions. The Board is federally-chartered to provide the Department of Energy advice and recommendations concerning EM cleanup activities, including, but not limited to, environmental restoration; waste management and disposition; excess facilities; budget prioritization, future land use and long-term stewardship.

The Board's membership reflects a variety of viewpoints of community members living and working near EM sites. While only one EM SSAB exists, eight local boards have been organized under its umbrella charter. The eight local boards are: Hanford Advisory Board, Idaho Cleanup Project Citizens Advisory Board, Nevada SSAB, Northern New Mexico Citizens' Advisory Board, Oak Ridge SSAB, Paducah Citizens Advisory Board, Portsmouth SSAB and the Savannah River Site Citizens Advisory Board.
