

NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY

The U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) has prepared a draft Environmental Assessment (EA) to analyze and describe the potential environmental impacts associated with the proposed action associated with the following rulemaking:

Final Rule, 10 CFR Part 433, “Energy Efficiency Standards for New Federal Commercial and Multi-Family High-Rise Residential Buildings’ Baseline Standards Update” (RIN 1904-AD39) (DOE/EA-2001)

DOE’s Golden Field Office has prepared the draft EA in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA). DOE is proposing to adopt a final rule updating the baseline standard in 10 CFR 433 to the latest current model industry standards (ASHRAE 90.1-2013), based on cost effectiveness and DOE’s determination that energy efficiency has been improved in these codes as required by 42 USC 6831 et seq.

The draft EA is available for review on the following website:
