

BIOENERGY IMPACTS

Biofuels have created extra revenue for farmers

The Bioenergy Technologies Office provided funding to POET-DSM for its cellulosic ethanol biorefinery. Farmers earned additional revenue from selling their leftover corn husks, stalks, and leaves to the POET-DSM biorefinery for production of cellulosic ethanol—a type of biofuel.

To learn more, visit bioenergy.energy.gov.