

BIOENERGY IMPACTS

Biorefineries are cutting their costs by using more efficient harvesting equipment

The Bioenergy Technologies Office provided funding to FDC Enterprises, which partnered with Kelderman Manufacturing to develop a self-loading trailer. Biofuels company Abengoa purchased the self-loading trailer to streamline the movement of corn plant residues to its biorefinery, where they are converted into biofuel.

To learn more, visit bioenergy.energy.gov.

