

EVELYN BOYD GRANVILLE

Second African-American woman to earn a Ph.D. in mathematics and created computer software for America's early space missions like the Mercury and Apollo program.

Loves teaching in STEM fields and held jobs at universities, elementary schools, and wrote a text book.

Born and raised in Washington, D.C., and also has lived in Tennessee, California, Connecticut, and Texas where she sold chicken eggs.

ENERGY.GOV / STEMRising

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY