Fernald Preserve Visitors Center

- Requested by stakeholders involved in developing recommendations for final land use
- A decision was made to maintain the Fernald site as an undeveloped park with an emphasis on wildlife
- A visitors center was designed to meet the following needs:
  - To tell the site’s story through exhibits
  - To recognize the contributions of Cold War-era workers
  - To serve as a resource for contemporary and historic site information
  - To accommodate site related interpretive programs
  - To provide accessible meeting space for nonprofit community groups
